

Child Find

Child Find is a program to identify, locate, and evaluate children in need of special education.

School districts are required by federal law to provide services to children, 3-21 years, who may need special education regardless of the severity of the disability.

1 Locating

Locating students who may have disabilities involves working with other agencies, and informing the general public of available special education services and the special education referral process.

2 Identifying

Identifying students who may have disabilities could include screenings or Coordinated Early Intervening Services. These services are provided to students who need additional academic and/or behavioral supports to succeed in the school environment.

3 Evaluating

Evaluating students who may have disabilities is achieved through a comprehensive evaluation. This comprehensive evaluation is completed to determine whether a student is eligible for special education services under the Individuals with Disabilities Education Improvement Act.
