

Cindy Millican, M.Ed.

Co-Teacher Director

Cindy Millican holds a bachelor's and master's degree in special education and a master's degree in educational administration and curriculum studies, from the University of Oklahoma.

Ms. Millican taught for 8 years in Moore Public Schools as a special education teacher, both in a self-contained and a resource/lab setting. Ms. Millican has worked at ASTEC for several years as the district's Special Education Director.

Ms. Millican is passionate about education and wants the best for our scholars. She believes the ultimate goal is to help mold scholars into active community participants who work, play, and thrive in their lives beyond school.

Ms. Millican lives in Moore with her husband Eric, their daughter Mollie, and several pets, including a dog, a cat, 2 gerbils, a turtle and 3 small frogs.

In her spare time, Ms. Millican enjoys reading, attending church, playing board games, and spending time with her family and pets.
