

Stacey Hughes, Ph.D.

Middle/High Headmaster

Dr. Stacey Hughes is a certified English and SPED teacher and a certified elementary, intermediate, and secondary principal. She began teaching high school English almost two decades ago after earning her Bachelor of Science degree in English education from the University of Oklahoma. During this time, Stacey earned her Master of Science in Instructional Leadership and Academic Curriculum (ILAC) with an English education focus.

After earning her master's degree, Dr. Hughes moved to New York, NY, where she taught English composition at the university level.

Dr. Hughes moved back to Oklahoma and returned to teaching high school English. During this time, she worked to earn her Ph.D. in Instructional Leadership and Academic Curriculum with an English education and critical theory focus.

While working towards her Ph.D., Dr. Hughes taught high school English, undergraduate and graduate courses at the University of Oklahoma's College of Education. She completed her Ph.D. in 2019 and has since served as a school administrator for several years.

Dr. Hughes is married to Zachary, a former high school English teacher and current school administrator and they have one daughter, Harper.
