

Mariah Huston, M.S.

8th Grade Science

Mariah Huston graduated from Stephens College with her Bachelor of Science degree in psychology and biology. She then earned her Master of Science degree in cellular and molecular biology from Tulane University.

Ms. Huston served as a mental health case worker for youth experiencing psychosis during the pandemic. She volunteered as a math and science tutor to children needing to catch up in their online courses. After a few years of serving in mental health, Ms. Huston pursued a new career in helping house people experiencing homelessness as a case manager at the Homeless Alliance.

Helping others is Ms. Huston's passion. She likes volunteering and exploring the outdoors with her dog in her free time.
